Calls	Meetings Set	March Appointments	Confirmed* Purchases
	11 self-booked / 3 setter	4 attended / 7 unconfirmed / 2 cancelled	*numbers logged, not total achieved

Outcome Tracking Gap

15.38% of total outcomes tracked. 8 outcomes, 61.53% of total appointments, unclear. Post-appointment tracking to capture all purchase confirmations and consultation outcomes.

Self-Booking Efficiency

11 of 13 attended appointments came through self-booking with zero setter involvement needed. This channel requires minimal operational overhead and delivers strong results.

Conversion Pipeline

Pending confirmations of purchase represent immediate revenue opportunity. Establishing a post-appointment follow-up protocol is needed to uncover untapped potential and missed wins.

Strategic Channel Division

Front office handled 22 of 25 new lead bookings under a new process, as setter shifted to lead reactivation.

High Volume, Low Conversion

Conversion from reactivation limited. The 2+ week period of inactivity disrupted pipeline momentum.

Conversion Lag

Higher lead intake not translating to qualified conversions. Client-side operational review to trace drop-off points and critique qualification.

Friction Point

Booking-to-attendance gap persists across process changes and owners; execution is not the variable. Root cause may be tied to lead profile, market behavior, or consultation model design. Deeper qualification analysis recommended.

Dr. Som Week 4

Dr. Som

459	33	29	0
Calls	Meetings Set	March Appointments	Confirmed Procedures
	33 setter	8 attended / 16 no show / 5 cancelled	3 awaiting authorization

Attendance Integrity

24% show rate despite confirmation points to systemic commitment issue. Internal reschedules further reduce visibility on actual attendance. Requires review of confirmation protocols and patient qualification standards.

Account Playbook

Booking channel diversification is a consistent driver of performance across high-performing accounts. Pairing with a tighter intake process and a one-week calendar cap would improve booking rate, attendance, and reduce singe-channel exposure.

Closing the Loop

Downstream outcomes remain invisible without client-side data. Monthly reporting on procedure approvals and revenue is essential to close the reporting loop and evaluate true ROI.

Post-Engagement Architecture

Reminder automation needs to be reviewed and aligned with Synergy workflow. Longer-term, consistent and strategic reminders will reduce appointment friction, improve show rates, and cut down fatigue.

March Summary

Insights & Operational Adjustments

Performance Segmentation

March shows a clear split in how accounts are performing. The strong performers (Synergy, Texas FHC, GDM) are hitting 89–100% attendance with solid revenue and pipeline growth. The challenged accounts (Dr. Som, Voit) are sitting at 19–24% attendance with minimal procedure confirmations. This gap points to operational differences we can actually fix, not just market conditions.

Revenue & Pipeline Status

We brought in $8,809 in processed revenue (Synergy $5,420, Texas FHC $3,389).

Texas FHC grew 102% month-over-month even with ad spend issues, which is a good sign.

GDM has pending purchase confirmations and incomplete historical data.

Dr. Som added 3 more patients to authorization pipeline with 0 visibility on final outcomes.

Voit is at 0 confirmed procedures, which is the main issue we need to tackle.

Team Support

(1) Appointment tracking sheet/client updates for GDM to capture all outcomes and close pending confirmations.

(2) Consistent client updates from Dr. Som on procedures, as well as status updates on the 9 authorization requests in progress.

(3) Strengthening reminder automation on Dr. Som's account to match Synergy's system (48-hour pre-appointment, 24-hour confirmation, 2-hour reminder at minimum).

(4) Integrate restricted calendars with Dr. Som's current campaign to boost booking rates and outcomes.

Trevor

(1) Launch a more thorough and aggressive campaign for Voit's older leads; creating a 4-5 touch cadence to recapture unresponsive and not interested leads.

(2) Keep current pace with Synergy's calendar to stay ahead on bookings. Perfect attendance proves the system works; filling all 24 spots is the only way to success.

(3) Scale Texas FHC's results through previous call and outreach review to reduce drop-offs. Strategy adjustment on inbound call leads to increase booked meetings.
